TBT's Holocaust Remembrance Shabbat Service/ In Person or Virtual

Friday, April 29 at 7:00 pm

Temple Beth Torah will honor the memory of those who lost their lives in the Holocaust and honor those who survived with a special Shabbat service on Friday, April 29th at 7:00 p.m. Rabbi Dan Gordon will lead the service with cantorial soloist Anita Bonanno. Ms. Bonanno's beautiful singing will help set the tone for the evening, as the synagogue's annual commemorative service pays tribute to victims and survivors of the most horrific time in history.

During the service, we will also learn first-hand accounts of the time of the Holocaust. Every story is different. For the past several years, TBT has been honored to host our beloved survivors to tell their personal stories. This year's guest will be announced soon.

Countless observances occur during this season to help pay tribute to the memory of those who died in the Holocaust, as well as honor those who were able to survive to tell their stories. Hy Penn and Lynn Gordon are sponsoring the service in loving memory of Hy's parents and grandmother, Holocaust survivors Linda Penn, Morris I. Penn and Riva Kremer.

Hy Penn to Tell His Families' Holocaust Story for Holocaust Museum Houston

Thursday, April 7 at 6 pm - Virtual Only

TBT's Hy Penn weaves a remarkable tale of survival and hope as he takes us on the journey of his parents and maternal grandmother from eastern Europe to Texas. His mother Linda, and grandmother Riva, survived 9 different camps including Majdanek, Auschwitz-Birkenau, Bergen-Belsen, and Theresienstadt. Morris, his father, escaped being shot by the Nazis and was hidden by Christian farmers near his home of Vilkauskis, Lithuania. Hy presents this program in honor of what would have been his father's 100th birthday this month. Click here to register for this free and virtual program:

RABBI'S MESSAGE

In Every Generation

As springtime is here, there are two centerpieces that highlight the Jewish calendar this month: Pesach (Passover) and Yom HaShoah (Holocaust Remembrance Day). The former is ancient history, the latter is modern history...and both ever present in our understanding of Jewish identity. Both are essential to remember, retell and understand.

We are taught that in every generation, we are to retell the Passover story, reliving it as if we were personally redeemed from slavery. And in every generation, there seems to be new reminders of why this story is important. With a war raging in Eastern Europe today, countless Ukrainians are living in fear. Many have fled and are now refugees in other countries. The Jewish people are certainly familiar with what it means to be refugees. From the beginning of our existence, our people have been nomadic. Before we were known as Jewish, we were called Hebrews, which actually comes from the Hebrew verb which means to pass through. It seems we were always going from one place to another. In ancient times, we passed through Egypt and the wilderness that led to the Promised Land...and even today, safe life in Israel is still threatened. Our experiences in the diaspora, outside of Israel, faced generations of expulsions, attacks, and oppression, culminating in the worst of the horrors: the attempted extermination of our people during the Holocaust. And today, especially in the U.S., Jewish people maintain arguably the most integrated, comfortable lifestyle in our entire history...but we still see the ignorance of antisemitism from a vocal minority. Through it all, we remain a people who carries on our traditions with pride, reverence, and joy. We celebrate the freedoms we have, while never forgetting that times were not always so good.

This gives us all the more reason to be sensitive to the struggles of other people. While Passover is the story of one people's journey from oppression to freedom, as Jews, we are taught to be a "light unto the nations" (Isaiah 42:6). A threat against anyone is a threat against all humanity. When we re-live the story of the Exodus, and when we recall the Holocaust, we are also actively saying that nobody should be oppressed as we were.

The Passover Seder is a joyous time to celebrate freedom. We absolutely must sing and celebrate and enjoy the traditions that allow us to rejoice in our heritage. And even while we mourn the victims of the Holocaust, both those who lost their lives and those who suffered the atrocities, we cherish our brave survivors. The most powerful villains of the world have not, cannot, and will not destroy the Jewish tradition or the Jewish people.

Our own story of survival is a great example of the power of determination. We have endured some of the most oppressive situations in the history of the world - and now we are observing powerful determination from the Ukrainian people. As we appreciate our freedom during Passover, we add to our own prayers that the oppressed people of Ukraine and around the world will soon be able to enjoy freedom without fear.

L'shalom,

Rabbi Dan Gordon

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE:

I grew up in a small Texas town with only ten Jewish people and four of those were my family. The first time I stepped in a Synagogue, I asked my mother "Are all these people Jewish?" For those who live in a Jewish community with all of the amenities that are needed, it is easy to live Jewish. For those of us that live primarily in communities that are predominantly other religions, we have to work harder to live as Jews.

Did you know that Judaism is not in the top 5 of religions in the world or in the United States, population wise? Atheists and Agnostics have a higher population than Judaism. I am probably not telling you anything you did not already know but the reason I mention it is because of these statistics. I was so surprised at this information. Do we have a responsibility to keep Judaism growing? Is it acceptable for us to simply be happy that Judaism is still slowly increasing and not declining? There are so many organizations that help us continue to grow, but what is our personal responsibility? Is it enough just to be Jewish? The wonderful thing is that there is not a right answer, but in the Jewish tradition only more questions.

It is inspiring that each of us has the power to be Jewish in our own way. However, thinking about others and finding ways to support others is part of our beautiful and mystical religion. I am so grateful that we can be Jewish in our society, and yet feel deep sorrow for those who are still persecuted because of who they are. Just take this moment to think about the people in Ukraine and do what we can for others.

Shari Ellsworth

Torah Portions for April 2022

Summarized by Rabbi Dan Gordon

April 1-2, 2022 Tazria, Leviticus 12:1-13:59

This portion begins with laws of ritual impurity following childbirth, and a reminder that male children be circumcised after their eighth day of birth. It goes on to discuss a variety of skin afflictions. It becomes the duties of the priests to determine and diagnose periods of isolation, and how both minor and major skin afflictions are to be handled. When a person is afflicted, there are particular rituals the priest employs to help them regain ritual purity and return to the camp. Discussions of this Torah portion can help us relate to the importance of purity, as well as how to regain a pure state when we are “infected” by physical, spiritual or emotional “intruders.”

April 8-9, 2022 Metzarah, Leviticus 14:1-15:32

Metzarah continues from the previous portion about skin afflictions, with a particular emphasis on leprosy. These two smaller portions are often combined when it is not a leap year on the Hebrew calendar. It is particularly noteworthy that these laws of purity come as reminders just before Pesach. Becoming as “clean” as possible is a goal of Pesach. We rid our homes of the hamatz – the undesirable leavened products that are forbidden on Pesach. Spiritually, it can be a way of getting rid of the “schmutz” of our lives. The Exodus is about starting over as a people. Each year, when we purify our homes, we prepare to start over once again.

April 15-16, 2022 Exodus 12:21-51

(special reading for the beginning of Passover)

TBT will be having a virtual seder once again, and the first night is Shabbat, April 16. The Torah portion for this special Shabbat details the 10th Plague, the slaying of the Egyptian first born. Israelites are given detailed instructions about how to place lamb’s blood on their doors, to ward away the “Angel of Death.” It is interesting that this visible sign is important. Actively demonstrating our Jewishness was the means for survival. It is a powerful lesson of the importance of standing up for who we are, and not being afraid to publicly show our pride of being Jewish. As the last line of Adon Olam clearly states: “God’s spirit and strength are with me, and I shall not fear.”

April 22-23, 2022 Exodus 13:17-15:26 (special reading for the end of Passover)

On Shabbat at the end of Pesach, we read the dramatic story in which Pharaoh changes his mind and chases the fleeing Hebrew slaves. G-d did not show Moses the shortest route but led the Israelites toward the Sea of Reeds. This was to keep them away from powerful warriors, for G-d did not want the people to be frightened back to Egypt. The fearful Hebrews, seeing the Egyptian soldiers at their heels, cry to Moses, “Why did you lead us here to the dessert to die? Were there not enough graves in Egypt?” The most memorable miracle then occurs when G-d causes a great wind to split the sea and allow the Israelites to pass through on dry land. Moses recites a song that includes the “Mi Chamocho” prayer (Who is like You, G-d, among the worshipped?) and Miriam leads the women with drumming and dancing. The freedom journey is on its way!

April 29-30, 2022 Acharay Mot, Leviticus 16:1-18:30

This portion begins by referencing the death of Aaron’s sons, who defiled their responsibilities and were punished. It includes, among other things, the instructions for the Day of Atonement. A goat was used by the High Priest to take our sins away for us; the beginning of the term “scapegoat.” Placing responsibility for our sins onto the goat became, in later years, a way to divert blame to others.
